Watch Your Kidneys!
Help them to Cleanse the Blood of Your Body
Your kidneys are the most important organs in your body. They filter out the waste products of your metabolism and excrete them from your body. If your kidneys become clogged or diseased, the waste products will build up in your blood and cause various ailments such as backache, rheumatism, headache, dizziness, and general weakness. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are the most effective remedy for kidney trouble. They are gentle on the stomach and do not cause any harmful effects. They are recommended by the most famous medical authorities in the world.

"It's great to know you're helping!"

"Sure, I know I'm too young to carry a gun and be a Ranger like brother Bill, but I'm helping all the same in every way I know how. Dad told me the other night about the need for cutting down my local phone calls. He said that every telephone line was needed so badly by Uncle Sam that every call I didn't make would help win the war. "Gee, I didn't know my calls would make any difference, but they sure do. Dad says telephone lines and switchboards are so crowded now that every call I make, to be dead sure it's important. "Mom and Dad, and Sister and the maid, and the whole gang of kids in my neighborhood are now doing a lot less telephoning. Believe me, I want brother Bill back home, and if cutting down on my phone calls will help bring him back—it's sure okay with me. "How about you? Will you help, too? I bet you will."

Absenteeism is not alone the problem of industry, the Church knows a great deal of it as well.

It is not altogether a modern problem, for, as far back as the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ, Thomas was an absentee.

When the Lord manifested Himself to His disciples on that memorable first day of the week, Thomas was not with them. (John 20:24).

He absented himself from that unusual meeting.

And he missed one of the most eventful weeks in history! His absenteeism tended to unbelief, and no marvel for the Lord, who has designed that the collective gathering of believers should, among other things, strengthen the faith of believers.

When the other said: "We have seen the Lord," he said: "I will not believe."

A lesson for us undoubtedly is that absenteeism from the gathering of the saints spells spiritual weakness. For the Lord Jesus said: "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." (Matthew 18:20).

During these days ahead of us let's make it victory for Christ and not be a traitor to His cause by absenteeism.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Improved Uniform International

By HAROLD E. LUNDQUIST, D. D., of the Bible Institute of Chicago (Released by Western Newspaper Union)

Lesson for April 11

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education

PETER AND JOHN WITNESS CHRIST'S GLORY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 8:28; II Peter 1:16-18

GOLDEN TEXT—A voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son; hear him.—Mark 9:7.

Christ is God! The one who comes to know that truth is ready to follow Christ, and to make Him known to others. The want of such a true conception of the Son of God weakens our convictions and hinders our usefulness.

"Where there is no vision, the people perish," said the wise man (Prov. 29:18). For want of a true vision of Christ as God, and the God-given constraint which makes men give themselves in sacrificial service, the people perish in their sins.

Peter and John saw our Lord in service. He is under the direction of the Committee of War Services for the United Christian Missionary Society.

Pre-Easter Prayer Services will be held in this church under the direction of the Women's Missionary Society, Monday and Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and 7:45 p.m. Wednesday on the week before Easter.

"Dolls on Parade"

Presented at Murray Training School

The sixth grade children of Murray Training School presented a doll show, named "Dolls on Parade" in their rooms on Friday, April 2.

The exhibit was composed of 148 dolls of three main types: dolls of foreign and unusual dolls, and animal dolls.

The foreign dolls, all of which were very interesting, included collections owned by Ann Lowry, Pamela Pamplin, Miss Lillian Hollowell, Mary Sue LaFollette, Margaret Lewis. Single entries were owned by Ann Shroat, Betty Hulton, Betty Yancey, Barbara Ashcraft, Marianne Wolfson, Jean Corn and Mary Sue LaFollette. Among the countries represented were England, Holland, Mexico, Italy, Japan, China, Russia, Scotland, Ireland, Norway, Philippine Islands, Brazil, Germany, and Czechoslovakia. There were also Indian dolls and a splendidly carved mountaineer woman.

The oldest doll exhibited was Ann Lowry's doll of colonial American type which is about 17 years old. Several entries were from thirty-five to sixty-five years old. Interesting to the children were a Ginny which walked and a Topsy-Eva doll which was reversible.

The children enjoyed the show a great deal and the sixth grade felt it was a success.

CORRECTION

The Ledger & Times inadvertently, stated last week that Mason Hart died at the Keys-Houston clinic hospital. This was incorrect. He died at his home in Murray.

Article by Sixth Grade of Training School Is Published By "Childhood Education"

In the April issue of "Childhood Education," an outstanding publication for workers with elementary children, the boys and girls of the sixth grade of Murray Training School published an article entitled "This Is Worth Fighting For."

After learning the song by this title the children, under the guidance of their teacher, Miss Rubie Smith, listed the things they considered worth fighting for. Following this they divided themselves with committees and wrote the lines printed below. They were combined with songs and presented as an assembly program in November. Then after obtaining permission from Harms, Incorporated, to use its song title for their lines, the children sent what they had written to "Childhood Education." It was accepted for publication. The following is a reprint from that magazine:

THIS IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR

I see our history before us, and I hear the shout from the shore. As Columbus sees land, land not discovered before.

I remember the wigwags of Indians and I hear their campfire roar.

I see the Pilgrims with guns tripping through the forest to worship. And listen to shots as they ring through the woods. It's our forefathers fighting for freedom.

I see Betty Ross and her helpers making Old Glory Washington, as he kneels down to pray for his men in cold Valley Forge.

I remember the shores of the people when the Declaration of Independence was signed.

I see the little log cabin where Abraham Lincoln was born. I see a nation as one undivided, after a dread Civil War.

I remember the great western plains and covered wagons rolling along. I hear the sound of the axe as Daniel Boone and his followers cut their way west to enter Kentucky.

I watch as our fathers, then boys, make a home. I see the final World War.

I see a parade of inventions going back so far. And I hear the rattle of the first airplane. I hear the sound of a motor boat and I even hear a motorcycle roar down the lane.

I hear a giant bomber high in the sun. And the rat-a-tat of a great machine gun.

Guarding our nation from harm. There's the "clink" of a telephone ringing clear. And as a turn of dial of my radio, I hear Churchill's voice sounds near.

In the movie of evenings there are technicians and telephone. And I hear the sound of a television set even be new. Perhaps we'll be riding in helicopters instead of a car. But I'm sure.

All of this is surely worth fighting for.

I see a great hospital before me. I see scientists bending over tables, hunting the cure to diseases. I know that they labor to save us.

I see the suffering people once had to bear. I see a shining white table with trays of sterile instruments upon it.

I see the nurses hurry to wait on the patients. I hear the babies crying in the nursery, and see children as they leave happily well.

I see farmers plowing cotton, and I hear the sound of a tractor. I see a factory off from town. I hear the buzz of lines as lumber and leather are eaten by machines day after day.

I hear the buzz of lines as the electrician works. I see a miner at evening grimy with the dust of his work. I drag to his home and his family, and to open and close his own door.

I hear the fire-truck and its siren as it zips down the street on its run. I see all of America's workers in a land where they choose what to do.

And a voice within me whispers, "This is worth fighting for."

I see the schools of our nation where children are being educated. That freedom is precious and that democracy has its duties that our citizens must perform if it lives. I see Abe Lincoln and Sarah going to school in the little log school-house. I see the rough desks and benches and thin pieces of wood used for paper.

I see the states that our mothers and grandmothers used when they were younger. I see the boys standing with their noses in rings because they've been fighting.

But now I see schools in all of our towns and our cities. I see playgrounds with all sorts of equipment, and boys and girls playing happily upon them.

I hear the songs and the band notes of children. And see the things that they make. I hear their poems, their stories, their laughter, their discussion.

I hear the click of the typewriters and see the young scientists. And I know that these children are growing into world citizens of tomorrow.

Pray that their generation will make peace and not war.

I see the hum of American airplanes, manions, pointed roofs, and bungalows.

I see red paint on obelisk roofs, and curtains snowy white. I remember pictures so gay on the wall.

I see lights in the windows shining so brightly. And trees bending over as if guarding from harm.

I hear a mother call dinner, and the bang of the boys down the hall. I see the pets by the fireplace. River, Tabby--and by the window a dog.

I hear the women cleaning in summer, and popcorn popping by fire. I see the neigh of a pony as he waits for his feed in a stall.

I see the beauty of America before me. There are canyons with colorful walls, majestic mountains towering above.

Creatures I see in the forest and plain--deer, buffalo, cattle, and bears.

Kinglike eagles are soaring, and lovely wild geese are flying above. I see the seasons with all of their beauty--the white snow of the winter, the height of the summer.

The green freshness of spring makes me happy, the violets and jonquils so gay. The warmth of the summer soon comes, and the golden autumn is brown and gay. I hear the song of the birds and the chatter of the squirrels.

As they store nuts for the winter to come. At the end of the beautiful day the colorful sunset unfolds in its splendor that thrills us with beauty.

I see the moon overhead in the evening and the stars that sparkle in the sky. And I know that America is beautiful, a land truly worth fighting for.

I see a church spire before me guiding people to God. And I hear its people singing praise to the Father above. I see the brilliance of stained glass windows, and the archways of the church.

I hear the peal of an organ, and chiming as they ring in the tower. I see the board head of a preacher as he prays for the end of this war.

And into my heart comes a whisper, "This is worth fighting for."

The training of children is a profession, where we must know how to lose time in order to gain it. --Rousseau.

Q. D. Wilson will explain cotton insurance over radio station WPAJ, Paducah, April 9 at 11:30 a.m.

District PTA To Meet Here Apr. 14

The spring conference of the First District Parent-Teacher Association will be held at the Murray Woman's Clubhouse next Wednesday, April 14.

Delegates from the Murray High School PTA selected to attend the conference are Mrs. A. B. Austin, Mrs. Marshall Berry, Mrs. A. D. Butterworth, Mrs. Robert Smith, Miss Hazel Tarry, Mrs. Vester Orr, Mrs. Herbert Lax, Mrs. L. Rhodes, Mrs. Wm. Jeffrey and Mrs. George Hart. Three alternates were named: Mrs. Donald McWilliam, Mrs. Roy Farmer and Mrs. Burman Parker.

Mrs. Hall Hood and Mrs. Ronald Churchill were named on the decorations committee for the meeting and Mrs. A. L. Rhodes head of the hospitality committee.

The practice sessions were conducted in a different manner than in previous years. All boys interested in football were enrolled in a 3 o'clock V-1 military training class with Stewart as instructor of the class. With this setup the boys got both their compulsory military training and spring football practice.

The drills started with calisthenics occupying most of the period. Later in the week, preparing to build a strong offense for the coming season, Stewart started running plays, which dominated most of the time from then on. Contact work was delayed only a few days and practice sessions had plenty of "zip."

Farmers To Report ACP Performance

In step with wartime's demand for greater personal responsibility, farmers throughout Kentucky this year will report their performance under the Agricultural Conservation Program, said M. D. Royle, State Chairman of Kentucky Agricultural Adjustment Agency last week.

Through this new system farmers expect to save man hours, tires and gasoline, since it will not be necessary for an AAA representative to visit all farms, stated Mr. Royle. "Farmers will report the acreages of war crops and special crops and the extent of production practices carried out on their farms. They will be expected to make measurements where acreages have not been ascertained. Careful estimates will be acceptable for the acreages of corn, wheat and most production practices."

Through enemy action more than two thousand sacks of U.S. mails carried on United Nations ships and destined for American soldiers overseas in recent weeks have been lost, the Army Postal Service reports.

Prospects For College Football Still In Doubt

Still in doubt as to whether Murray State will be represented on the gridiron next fall with its 1943 edition of Thoroughbreds, Coach Roy Stewart has concluded spring drills, he announced today.

Only 16 gridirers reported, the smallest number in several years.

When asked for a statement concerning chances for a team next fall, Stewart, veteran of many gridiron seasons, replied, "If the boys are here and conditions permit, we'll play--provided a schedule can be arranged."

The practice sessions were conducted in a different manner than in previous years. All boys interested in football were enrolled in a 3 o'clock V-1 military training class with Stewart as instructor of the class. With this setup the boys got both their compulsory military training and spring football practice.

The drills started with calisthenics occupying most of the period. Later in the week, preparing to build a strong offense for the coming season, Stewart started running plays, which dominated most of the time from then on. Contact work was delayed only a few days and practice sessions had plenty of "zip."
